

Harm Reduction Program Statewide Report November to December 2018

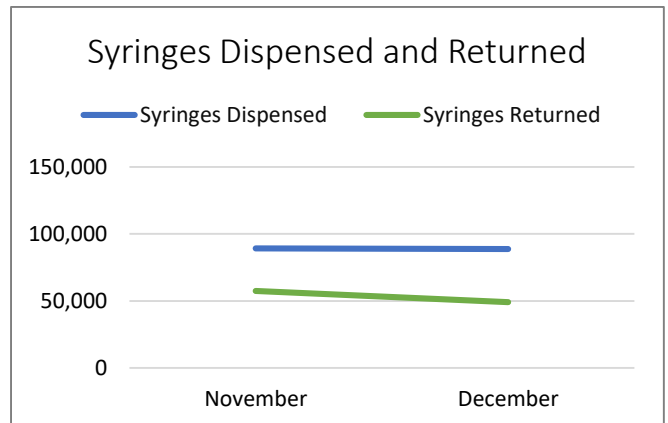

Harm reduction is a comprehensive set of public health strategies that aim to reduce sickness and death among people who inject drugs. The data below were reported by eighteen harm reduction programs from November and December.

Educational materials were distributed to participants at 3,111 visits in November and December.

60% of syringes dispensed between November and December were returned.

212 participants were referred to treatment between November and December 2018.