The large percentage of cases with the serotype Javiana is due to a large multistate outbreak in 2004. Routinely the number of cases with Javiana serotype is much smaller.

Serotype of Salmonella Cases Reported in 2004
West Virginia, N=239

- Enteritis: 13%
- Javiana: 19%
- Typhimurium: 15%
- Montevideo: 5%
- Newport: 5%
- Not done: 8%
- Other: 35%
Percentage of Cases with Antibiotic Susceptibility Testing for Salmonella cases reported in 2004, West Virginia, N=239

Yes 69%

No 31%
Salmonella Serotypes with Ampicillin Resistance for Cases Reported in 2004, West Virginia, N=14

There have been very few Salmonella infections reported in West Virginia that showed resistance to the recommended antibiotics.